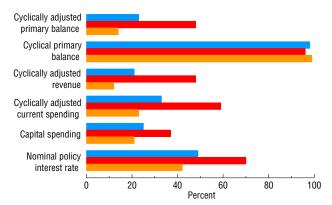

Figure 5.1. How Often and Quickly Has Fiscal Stimulus Been Used in G7 Economies?¹

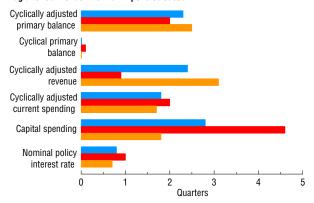

Discretionary fiscal policy has been used less frequently than monetary policy and automatic stabilizers during downturns, and has taken longer to arrive.

Share of downturns with easing in:

Lag after start of downturn until policies eased

Source: IMF staff calculations. 1G7 comprises Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, United Kingdom, and United States.