

Contents

Abbreviations	vii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
1 Introduction	1
2 Establishing a Medium-Term Resource Envelope	4
3 Choosing an Expenditure Path	6
Time Profile of Aid	6
Absorptive Capacity Constraints	6
Spending and Debt Sustainability	8
Spending and Growth	10
Spending Efficiency	11
Expenditure Path and Fiscal Targets	12
Updating Baseline and Alternative Scenarios	16
4 Dealing with Aid Uncertainty and Volatility	17
5 Strengthening Institutions to Promote Effective Utilization of Aid	20
Weaknesses of Existing Public Financial Management (PFM) Systems in Low-Income Countries	20
Overall Strategic Planning	25
Developing a Medium-Term Approach to Budgeting	25
Strengthening Budget Execution and Reporting	28
Integrating Donor Aid in the Budget Process	32
Strengthening PFM Systems, Including Their Capacity to Track Poverty-Reducing Spending	33
Formulating and Implementing PFM Action Plans	35
The Role of Technical Assistance in Supporting the Reform Process	39

6	Conclusions	42
	Appendixes
	1. Country Experiences with Scaled-Up Aid	45
	2. Expenditure Efficiency—An Empirical Assessment	53
	References	62
	Boxes
	1. Choosing an Expenditure Path When the Resource Envelope Is Expanding	9
	2. Fiscal Targets in IMF-Supported Programs	14
	3. Strengthening Public Financial Management in Postconflict and Disaster-Affected Countries	26
	4. Current Medium-Term Fiscal Planning Practices	29
	5. Short-Term Priorities for Public Financial Management Reform	30
	6. Illustrative Expenditure Tracking Mechanism	34
	7. Role of Donors in Promoting Effective Public Financial Management Reform	40
	Figures
	1. HIPC-AAP: PFM Performance by Key Categories	22
	2. Fiscal ROSC Assessments, 1999–2005	22
	3. PEFA Assessments Undertaken During 2005–06	23
	4. CPIA: Quality of Partner Country PFM Systems in 2005	23
	A1.1. Event Study: Aid Flows After an Aid Spurt	49
	A1.2. Aid Volatility and Fiscal Institutional Quality	50
	A1.3. Changes in Current Spending and Institutional Quality	51
	A1.4. Changes in Capital Spending and Institutional Quality	51
	Tables
	1. Illustrative Platforms for Strengthening Budget Formulation in a Typical Low-Income Country	37
	A1.1. Aid and Revenue, 1990–2004	46
	A1.2. Total Aid, Loans, and Grants	47
	A1.3. Selected Regression Results	48
	A2.1. Countries Included in the Efficiency Analysis	54
	A2.2. Spending and Outcome Indicators for the Efficiency Analysis	55
	A2.3. Percent of Countries in Top Half of the Efficiency Distributions for Health by Income Level	57
	A2.4. Percent of Countries in Top Half of the Efficiency Distribution for Education by Income Level	57

A2.5.	Control Variables	58
A2.6.	Correlation Matrix of Relative Efficiency Scores and Control Variables	60
A2.7.	Truncated Regressions of Expenditure Efficiency Scores	61