

Figure 5.7. Advanced Economies: Labor Income Shares

(Percent of GDP unless otherwise noted)

Over the past two decades, there has been a continued decline in the share of income that accrues to labor, especially in Europe and Japan. The income share of workers in unskilled sectors has dropped strongly while that of workers in skilled sectors has generally made small gains.

