Court
Issues Facing

1. Tax Policy Issues

- Two tax regimes in the system: no personal income tax with loopholes or allowing noncompliant taxpayers to shift their income through the regimes for avoidance and evasion of taxes
- Unclear tax rules and regulation of certain sectors, such as petroleum and mining extractive industries, taxes on financial lease
- No Committee of Tax Arbitration (LoT, Article 123)
- No Investigation Office to oversee serious noncompliance
- Lack of regulation and guidelines on transfer pricing taxation
- No tax treaty with other countries
Issues Facing

2. Tax Administration Issues

- Tax administration in Cambodia is very young (starting from 1982)
- Tax culture is still low
- Limit number and capacity of tax officials (around 50–70 tax officials retire every year), resources allocated to develop new policy and other special project work
- Lack of a code of conduct
- Most of procedures are manual and paper-based
- System and procedures to monitor and control the work of GDT’s officials are underdeveloped
2. Tax Administration Issues

- Audit manual/audit guidelines on certain complicated industries, such as petroleum, banking, international transportation, construction, telecommunication, etc. are underdeveloped

- Lack of tax auditors’ skills, expertise to assist audit team, information to support audit, develop risk strategic plan

- Insufficient intelligence/risk assessment, audit case selection, audit plan, execution to deter noncompliance

- Level of taxpayers’ noncompliance and cooperation with tax auditors are still big concerns for GDT

- Access to taxpayers’ books and records is limited
Issues Facing

2. Tax Administration Issues

- Information Sharing: Lack of information sharing amongst related government entities, such as General Department of Customs and Excise, CDC, and MOC

- Tax Arrears: Large tax arrears, no real legal action against noncompliance (no court case)

- Information Technology (IT): No electronic filing, insufficient information for risk assessment, lack of equipment and skill of IT experts to support tax filing, payment, audit, and tax arrears

- Human Resource Management: Low salary of tax officials and procedure of staff performance review is not well-organized yet
Tax Reforms

Policy Reforms:

- Make and amend tax law and regulation to cope with specific industries
- Approve transfer pricing taxation rules and guidelines for implementation
- Set up a Committee of Tax Arbitration
- Establish Investigation Office to oversee the serious instances of noncompliance
- Reduce estimated regime by promoting a self-assessment system and introducing personal income
- To attract foreign direct investment and reduce international tax avoidance and evasion, conclude DTA with other countries
Tax Reforms

Tax Administration Reforms:

- Strengthening Tax Culture: Taxpayer education through seminars, response letters, TV, radio, leaflets, guidelines, posters.

- Tax Audit: Strengthen risk assessment, audit case selection, audit plan, increase tax auditors, tax auditors’ skills, and, information to support audit, develop risk strategy, and approve audit manual/guidelines on certain complicated industries to be implemented.

- Tax Arrears: Implement modern debt management strategy for highest-risk cases and prevent the growth in arrears, legal action made public using taxpayer’s names in newspaper, and bringing unpaid taxpayers to court; for classified debt, take in action of collectible debt and write it off if uncollectable.
Tax Administration Reforms:

- Information Technology (IT): Electronic filing, equipment to support operations, such as tax filing, payment, audit and tax arrears, and sharing information amongst related government entities.

- Staff Management: Set up Code of Conduct, increase number of staff and training, increasing salary or bonus with penalty, development and implementation of appropriate and staff review performance procedures (recruitment, remuneration, retention, promotion), and improvement of system and procedures to monitor and control the work of GDT’s officials.
