

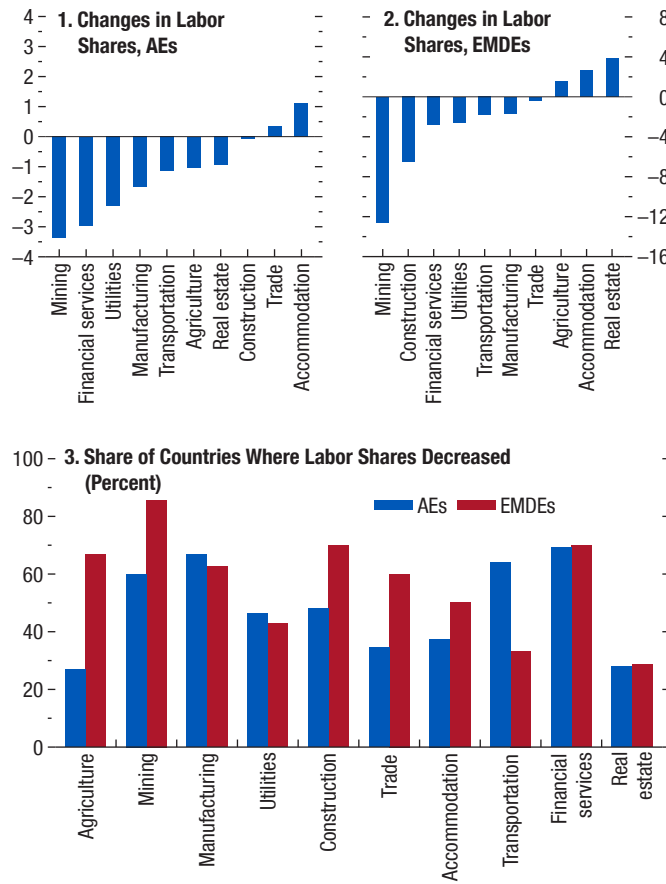

Figure 3.12. Heterogeneity across Sectors and Countries

Changes in aggregate labor shares conceal considerable heterogeneity across industries, but even within given industries, there are important cross-country differences.

Sources: National authorities; and IMF staff calculations.

Note: Panels 1 and 2 show average changes in percentage points over 25 years in sectoral labor shares for country-sectors with at least 10 years of data. AEs = advanced economies; EMDEs = emerging market and developing economies.
