Financial stress in advanced economies tends to be associated with swings in global capital flows. Flows are lower during the weeks following stress than during the weeks before.

Sources: Emerging Portfolio Fund Research; and IMF staff calculations.

Note: Stress events are during January 2010–June 2012. See the Spillover Feature for details.

See Table 2.SF.2 for the country composition of each group.